Ginbari Cloisonné Enamel Vase - Dragon - Japan - Meiji Period

250 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Enamel

Height : 15 cm

Description

Ginbari cloisonné enamel vase Dragon flying over the sea decor Japan - Meiji period - Circa 1900 Ginbari cloisonné enamel is a Japanese goldsmithing and enameling technique that combines the transparency of the enamel with an engraved metallic background, often in silver. The transparency reveals the underlying patterns, creating a luminous and deep effect typical of Meiji art. Height: 15 cm Good condition, no missing parts but some cracks on the enamel, detailed in photos

Dealer

Camille Baroux
Paintings, old drawings and objects of curiosity
Mobile : 0698994213

Bordeaux 33800