Description

Murano glass chandelier, Italian craftsmanship
Elegant Murano blown glass chandelier, made according to the great Venetian tradition. This model is distinguished by the slightly iridescent transparency of its glass and the delicacy of its curves. The central frame, finely twisted, supports six sinuous arms ending in cups housing the light sources. The whole is embellished with hanging drops of clear glass, which subtly reflect the light and accentuate its refinement. The glass has a beautiful material effect, slightly frosted, which gives it a look that is both classic and contemporary. Perfect for an elegant interior, whether it is a living room, an entrance hall or a dining room. Period: 20th century (circa 1980-1990) Origin: Murano, Italy Material: Blown and hand-worked glass Condition:
