Description

Charming watercolor depicting a medieval street scene full of life. Under arches and half-timbered facades, figures parade in procession, in a spirit that is both naive and refined. The composition evokes ancient illuminations, transposed here with humor and delicacy. The artist, whose signature appears at the bottom right, is linked to the figurative and narrative movement of the mid-20th century. His clear palette and meticulous drawing recall the works of Jean Gradassi. The rendering is precise, the attitudes expressive, the colors of a beautiful freshness. The sheet is mounted under a cream mat, period gilt frame. France, circa 1950-1960 Watercolor 38 X 14.5 cm Frame 50 X 26 cm
