Description

18th - 19th Century Italian Cinquedeas Dagger
This very desirable cinquedeas dagger is in a fine state, it was probably manufactured the north of Italy. These types of dagger are by far the rarest type and highly sought after with originals reaching $30 k +. The hilt is comprised of a beautiful spiral pattern that follows throughout the fittings. The pommel is rounded with a wheel engraved on either side, the grip has very nice accents of copper / bronze with ferrules and also accents extending down the grip. The dagger has an unusual designed double edge with a diamond cross-section and nice patina. Specifications:
