

Southern Player's Dagger With Latin Inscription

700 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Metal

Length : 34.6 cm

Description

Southern Gamblers Dagger With Latin Inscription
This very unusual dagger from the 20th century, but it could be older. This Southern push dagger, shaped as pistol is possibly a confederate gambler's Knife from around California Gold Rush to Civil War era it appears to have a striking resemblance to a cold pistol and have the Latin inscription "e pluribus unum". This is barely visible and has faded greatly. The meaning of the the inscription: "One from many" "E Pluribus Unum" was the motto proposed for the first Great Seal of the United States by John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, and Thomas Jefferson in 1776. A latin phrase meaning "One from many," the phrase offered a strong statement of the American determination to form a single nation from a collection of states. Scabbard while

Dealer

Antiques Armoury
Antiques and Collectables
Tel : 0035699849540

Triq Enrico Naudi
L'iklin IKL Malta 1641

old is in good shape and may not be the original scabbard that accompanied the dagger. Specifications: Sheathed: 34.6 cm Overall:
32.2 cm Blade: 16.2 cm