Description

WW2 Officers Kukri This finely crafted Kukri from WW2 points to it belonging to a officers. The kukri may have either been specially ordered or private purchase, what we can be certain of is that it was crafted by a top smith. The kukri is in overall excellent condition and has a high quality scabbard with nice brass accents. Some cracking on the spine is visible. The kukri itself is in fine shape but the horn grips show some chipping. Length: 42 cm
