Description

A very attractive antique oval diamond-cut crystal box with a solid silver lid decorated with a charming cherub motif, after the painting by Joshua Reynolds (1723-1792) entitled Portrait of a Child in Various Views, "Angel Heads", painted in 1786-1787. These are several views of the head of the 5-year-old Lady Frances Isabella Keir Gordon (1782-1831), who posed for Reynolds in July and August 1786, and again in March 1787, the year of his exhibition. She was the only daughter of Lord William Gordon and his wife Frances Ingram (1761-1841), whose painting was bequeathed to the National Gallery upon his death in 1841. It is now on display at Tate Britain. link here To start a new collection, I offer in another ad a box on the same theme (visible on the last photos) link here English title
