Description

Travel writing case from the famous London manufacturer Bramah (Joseph Bramah, 1748 - 1814). * 19th century * A very beautiful case but still in used condition and which would require restoration in order to regain all its former prestige. It would be particularly necessary to fill two cracks on the lid and to replace the morocco which covers the external structure, once this is done and a few other small details reviewed it will be able to regain its panache almost as in its origin (its slightly negotiable price takes into account its used condition). Width: 30 cm / Depth: 23 cm / Height: 14.5 cm Weight: 2,570 g You can consult a history of this manufacturer by consulting the internet page at the address of the link below:
