Description

Oil on canvas, late 19th century, around 1890 - 1910, Art Nouveau period, depicting an elegant young redheaded woman walking in a park in Autumn. Her dress of a deep green (more vivid in real life than in the photos, taken outdoors without sun and with little light), brings out her red hair and the orange shades of the autumn leaves. She holds in her arms a voluminous bouquet of flowers. This painting is signed lower left: A. QUESNEL. This painter with a certain talent, keeps his mystery. The composition is full of charm, with a beautiful representation of the play of light. Note: 3 pieces on the back at the top of the canvas and the 3 repainted ones, blended into the landscape that correspond. Format: 61 cm x 50 cm.
