Magnificent half-naked African dancer by Guy Huzé, a specialist in the genre. Very beautiful, frantic movement of her perfect body adorned with a loincloth and a feather headdress. Gold earrings and bracelets. Ribbons flying around her. Work on gouache paper and pastel highlights, in a sober frame (slightly veiled paper). Signature at the bottom center: G HUZE French painter trained at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts in Paris but who quickly left France to travel the world, finally settling in Australia and New Zealand. He traveled extensively, from Polynesia (Tahiti in particular) to Africa. We know that he went to Gabon, Ghana and Guinea.
