Description

Charming pair of glass and solid silver decanters dating from the reign of Louis Philippe. The ovoid body of the decanters is engraved with fruit-bearing branches, forming a frieze. The silver mounts are very opaque. They are beautifully openworked with a trellis design supporting flowers. The openwork is extremely delicate. The neck mounts are mounted with a pin system, a sign of the quality of the silversmith's work. The glass stoppers are also covered with an openwork mount that echoes the design of the decanter body. Each decanter is hallmarked: Minerva 1st grade from before 1973 for 950/00 silver. Goldsmith's mark: PQ with a double oar in the antique style for Pierre-François Queillé II, active from 1834 to 1846. Examination of the hallmarks allows us to date these decanters between 1838 and 1846, during the reign of King Louis-Philippe. Magnificent pair of decanters with a particularly remarkable openwork frame that brings charm and lightness to these objects. 19 cm high 8 cm maximum diameter Capacity: approximately 35 cl 977 grams gross for the pair. Very good condition. Minor scratches from use. One of the stoppers is probably not original because the frame, with a few minor defects, is a little large and shows traces of glue. However, it fits perfectly to the neck of its decanter. Hand-delivered in Paris or shipped by insured Colissimo. France: EUR15 Europe: EUR20 World: EUR35
