Description

Elegant ecclesiastical chasuble in fine purple silk damask, enriched with wide golden galloons that frame the decorative structure with harmony. The fabric features a refined floral and vegetal motif, typical of Italian liturgical production from the early 20th century. The purple colour, traditionally used during penitential seasons in the Catholic liturgy, gives the vestment a solemn and sober elegance. The set stands out for its quality craftsmanship and the vibrant brilliance of the textile. Complete set: In addition to the chasuble, the ensemble includes a stole, maniple, chalice veil, and burse, all coordinated and made of the same fabric with matching golden trimming. Condition: Good overall condition, with slight signs of use consistent with its age. Complete and well preserved. Provenance: Private
