

Gold Metal And Riveted Iron Fish Wall Sculpture, Brutalist Art

450 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Metal

Length : 50 cm

Height : 44 cm

Description

Stylized fish made of hammered and riveted sheet iron with superimposed elements forming fins and scales in relief. The body has an irregular golden patina on a brown oxidized background, accentuating the material effect and the artisanal character of the piece. This type of wall sculpture evokes the creations of northern European or French metal art workshops of the brutalist movement, close to the spirit of Curtis Jere or Artimeta. Entirely manual manufacture, visible riveting, hot-forged volumes and hand-hammering. The original fixing points allow direct hanging on the wall. Beautiful original patina, traces of oxidation and voluntary irregularities preserved.
