Description

A refined pair of Italian armchairs from the 1960s, attributed to Paolo Buffa, one of the most renowned Italian designers of the mid-20th century.

Their elegant silhouette, sculptural wooden arms and overall balance reflect Buffa's signature style - a harmonious blend of neoclassical grace and modernist sensibility.

Description and materials: Made of solid wood (likely walnut or stained beech), the frames display a fluid, organic line with beautifully curved armrests that extend into the rear legs.

The chairs have been professionally restored - newly upholstered with satin fabric in a vivid yellow tone, accented by a contrasting black piping emphasizing the soft, enveloping shape. The backrests feature four covered buttons,
