

Pointed Burgonet With Flatten Ergot - North Italy - Brescia - 16th Century - Circa 1560

2 800 EUR

Period : 16th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Metal

Length : 35 cm

Height : 25 cm

Description

A fine example of an interesting type of pointed Burgonet helmet with a flattened ergo pointing backwards, from Brescia, northern Italy, 16th century (circa 1560). The pointed ogival helmet is formed from a single piece of metal surmounted by a flattened ergo pointing backwards. The visor and neck guard are pointed, and the bronze quill holder has a leather motif. The rivets bordering the headband are each adorned with a brass rosette. The etched decoration, known as "Pisan style," consists of four medallions surmounted by a fleur-de-lis framed by caryatids. Two of the medallions depict a full-length female figure facing a column, while the other two depict the goddess Psyche. The visor, neck guard, and four bands dividing the helmet are decorated with a series of armor pieces, vases, etc. The helmet has

Dealer

Le Lys et l'Epée

Art premier, Memento Mori, Judaica, Maçonnique, Militaria, Bijoux, Mode

Tonnay-Charente 17430

undergone significant early restorations to the upper part. From the mid-16th century and Throughout the Renaissance, the Italian workshops in the Milan and Brescia region were major centers of arms production in Europe, boasting highly prestigious master gunsmiths. A similar example can be found in the Poldi Pezzoli Museum. Dimensions: Height 25 cm, Length 35 cm. Weight: 1700 g. In good condition, showing signs of use and in its original 500-year-old state. See photos for details. Free shipping within France. International shipping rates available upon request, depending on the destination country. Visit my other items by consulting my gallery and our website:
<https://www.IrisAntik.com>