Description

A 750/°° (18 KT, owl hallmark) gold ring with an antique aesthetic, composed of a twisted wire adorned with two intersecting ram's heads. These are finely chiseled and decorated with floral motifs. This ring could be attributed to the Greek jeweler Zolotas, suggesting his Heritage line, but it is unsigned. The beautiful patina of this ring highlights the relief of the ram's head carvings. The two heads, originally joined and soldered by a still-visible bridge, have been separated, probably to alter the ring's size. They can be reassembled by our workshop upon request (please note, the current size 56 would then be equivalent to a size 53 - please contact us). The bridge can also be removed if necessary. Gross weight: 4.56 g. Ring size: current: 56 - possible resizing to be assessed by our workshop (current
