Description

Patinated bronze Corpus Christi, France or Spain, late 16th - early 17th century. A beautiful bronze Christ on the cross with a brown patina, depicted as dead, with his head inclined and his body slightly twisted in an expressive pose. The torso is finely modeled, and the loincloth is tied on the right side, typical of Mannerist bronzes of the late 16th century. A high-quality piece, intended for an altar crucifix or private devotion. Dimensions: H. 15.8 cm x W. 12.4 cm. Condition: Very good condition, original patina preserved.
