Description

A refined French buffet from the 19th century, beautifully crafted in burr elm veneer with a luminous golden tone and rich, figured grain. Topped with a deep black marble, this elegant piece combines timeless sophistication with natural warmth, making it an ideal addition to both classic and contemporary interiors. The buffet features two drawers above a pair of paneled doors, each framed with delicate brass inlay and adorned with circular bronze pulls. The tapered legs rest on gilt-bronze sabots, giving the piece its distinct neoclassical balance. Inside, the shelves are lined with quilted green fabric trimmed with a decorative border -- a subtle testament to the attention to detail typical of fine French cabinetry of the Empire and Restoration periods. Its clean geometry, restrained
