Description

Circa 1910-1930 England. A complete set of British royal court attire dating from the first third of the 20th century. The coat, waistcoat, and breeches are made of midnight-blue cut silk velvet, complete with their original faceted steel buttons with diamond points and fully lined in cream satin. In addition to the bicorne hat--taupe with moiré ribbons and steel facings--the set includes a second cream satin waistcoat, a lace jabot and pair of gloves, as well as a pair of leather shoes marked Pearl & Co. of London (the leather is patinated and slightly worn). The breeches are labeled Randall & Walls of Bristol and marked J. Weston. Stevens. Esa, the owner's name. No flaws to report. A rare set in very fine condition, both in terms of color and preservation. Suitable for wearing or collecting. A sword and
