Description

A pair of oil paintings on canvas signed William Calcott Knell* depicting two seascapes with fishing boats in a rough sea, moored against a coastal landscape in England, titled "Morning Dutch Boats Calm River Dorte" and "Fishing Boats Garmouth Roads," dated 1879, in gilt-stained wooden frames, dating from the 19th century. These paintings and their frames are in good condition and are very decorative. The signature is on the frames as well as on the back of the canvases. Note: some minor damage and losses to the frames, wear consistent with age, see photos. * William Calcott Knell (1830-1880): was a British painter specializing in maritime subjects. Son of William Adolphus Knell (1801-1875), also a marine painter. His father's influence is evident in the composition and execution of his works. However, Knell also drew inspiration from other artists of his time. He primarily painted coastal scenes with boats. With great skill, Knell captured the changing moods of the day and conveyed his impressions of nature. Between 1848 and 1865, Knell exhibited his works at the Royal Academy, the Society of British Artists, and the British Institution. A highly regarded artist on Artprice.
