Description

Exceptional set of three Globe Wernicke London oak bookcases from the late 19th/early 20th century from England. They can be separated to form a pair or a single unit. The bookcases are made of oak and consist of a molded base and top, and five glazed elements. The glass panels slide inside the cabinet and have brass handles and opening mechanisms. The bookcases have large panels, allowing for the display of large books. They can be used as bookcases or display cabinets. In perfect condition with a beautiful patina the bookcases blend perfectly into antique and contemporary interiors. Delivery available in Belgium, France, and internationally. Viewable in our 2500m² showroom at 41 Rue Henri Wafelaerts, 1060 Brussels, Belgium. More information and photos available upon request.
