Description

Mixed media work by French artist Antoine De La Boulaye (1951, Paris). Acrylic and collage on paper. In perfect condition.Antoine de La Boulaye studied at the École Supérieure d'Arts Graphiques in Paris. He is a French painter renowned for his equestrian subjects. After depicting hunting, racing, and carriage scenes, all rooted in classical tradition, he turned to different pictorial languages in the 1990s, exploring contemporary abstraction and collage for a time, where his sense of color and classical balance still manifest his obsession with the horse. Antoine de La Boulaye's renown extends beyond France, and he has been the subject of solo exhibitions in Switzerland, Belgium, the United States, and the United Kingdom. President François Mitterrand commissioned two paintings from him in 1984,
