Description

"Globe Garden" armchair by Peter Opsvik --
Manufacturer: Stokke, 1980s. This superb sculptural armchair by Peter Opsvik for Stokke (Norway) is an iconic example of 1980s Scandinavian design. It features a black painted wood frame, and the seat and spherical elements are upholstered in vibrant blue, red, and yellow fabric, elegantly echoing the famous primary colors favored by Piet Mondrian. This playful yet ergonomic armchair perfectly illustrates the Norwegian designer's pursuit of balance, movement, and bodily freedom. Nicknamed "Globe Garden," the model is distinguished by its organic silhouette and spherical volumes reminiscent of a planetary system. A true icon of postmodern furniture, it stands at the crossroads of functional design and contemporary sculpture.
