Description

Impressive bronze sculpture created in the 20th century by Spanish artist Fernando Sánchez Castillo, inspired by the work of Pietro Tacca. The piece represents the leg of the horse of King Philip IV of Spain, referencing the monumental equestrian statue originally sculpted by Tacca in 17th-century Florence. Sánchez Castillo is known for his profound exploration of history, power, and memory, themes central to his artistic practice. Several of his works are held in public collections, including the Basque Museum of Contemporary Art and the Museum of Decorative Arts of the Basque Country. Dimensions: 63x27x25 cm. A striking and intellectually engaging bronze that bridges Baroque tradition and contemporary reflection.
