Description

A refined side table in brass and polished steel, in the style of the Jansen company, renowned for its creations blending French classicism and mid-20th-century modernity. The curved steel tripod base features delicate gilt brass fittings forming elegant scrolls that terminate in decorative rings. The legs end in exquisitely crafted, animal-paw-shaped feet. The circular, thick glass top rests on a chromed metal rim, lending lightness and transparency to the overall design. The combination of materials--steel, brass, and glass--gives this table a look that is at once understated, chic, and timeless. A highly elegant decorative piece, ideal as a side table, end table, or entryway table, it is perfectly suited to both classic and contemporary interiors.
