He owned the Château de Montplaisant and the Château de la Rochette in the Rhône. He was a descendant of Jean Chossat, secretary to the king in 1637. He died in Pressburg (Bratislava, Slovakia) in 1806, as an émigré. The sale of his confiscated property amounted to seven million gold francs. =>> Joseph-Jacques de Tricaud (1723-1788), from a family of artillery officers, was a captain in the Lyonnais Regiment (Infantry), a Knight of the Royal and Military Order of Saint Louis. He married Marie Aimée Dutour-Vuillard on August 24, 1754, in Bourg-en-Bresse. =>> Quinet, the buyer, came from a family of lawyers and treasurers of the hospitals of Bourg-en-Bresse since the 17th century. He himself was treasurer of the charitable works and hospitals, a qualified lawyer in 1756, and later mayor of Bourg-en-Bresse. He is the grandfather of Edgar Quinet (1803-1875), the famous historian. A note, with documentary references, will be given to the buyer.
