Description

The Flowering Tree, Rhône, Geneva, circa 1920
By François Pycke (1890-1960) A large post-Impressionist study from nature, painted around 1920 by François Pycke. This oil on canvas depicts a flowering tree on the banks of the Rhône in Geneva. Of exceptional quality and condition, it illustrates a flowering tree bathed in sunlight. Inspired by Japanese prints, the work is signed by the artist in the lower left corner, in a similar style. Presented in its original carved frame. Dimensions: approximately 86 x 76 cm (framed) Provenance: Cefyn Embling-Evans Collection
