Description

Alejandro Giner Marco (Valencia, 1947) creates a striking and poetic modernist portrayal of a seated woman playing a flute, fusing musicality and geometry in a richly colored composition. The work displays the artist's distinctive command of cubist structure--flattened planes, rhythmic contours, and sinuous lines that merge figure and instrument into a harmonious whole. A warm palette of amber, terracotta, soft grey, and muted blue evokes Mediterranean light, while expressive brushwork and balanced composition lend emotional depth and visual sophistication. Rooted in mid-century modernist aesthetics, the painting conveys both introspection and vitality, reflecting Giner Marco's sensitivity to form, color, and symbolic resonance. This vibrant work
