Description

These two very comfortable armchairs, upholstered in brown leather with a chromed metal frame and legs, date from Italy in the 1970s. The seat belt, with its chromed metal buckles on the sides, and the pleated leather detailing give them a distinctive character.This superb pair of vintage Italian designer armchairs from the 1970s embodies the luxury and boldness of vintage furniture from that era. Their solid wood frame ensures remarkable sturdiness, while the pleated brown leather, enhanced by chromed metal buckles and legs, gives them a unique personality. Despite minor cosmetic restorations (detailed in the photos), they represent a lasting and sophisticated investment for any lover of Italian design.
