Description

Elegant solid walnut dining or center table, of Venetian craftsmanship, dating from the 18th century. It features finely shaped legs with cut sections, typical of the Venetian Rococo style, which give the piece a graceful profile while ensuring excellent stability. The rectangular top is extendable by means of two pull-out leaves housed beneath the main surface, one on each side. This clever design allows the table to double in size, from 116 x 113.5 cm (closed) to 216 x 113.5 cm (open), with an overall height of 80.5 cm. The apron includes two opposing drawers, original and fully functional. The warm patina of the walnut, enriched by its natural grain and time-worn character, enhances the authentic charm of this well-preserved piece, suitable for both classic and contemporary interiors.
