Description

A gracefull creation by Daum, this pâte de verre vide-poche captivates with its refined form and delicate palette. Shaped like a blooming flower, it unfolds translucent petals in soft mauve and green hues, beautifully playing with the light. The sculpted roses seem to emerge from a mist of color, revealing the artistry and poetry for which Daum is renowned. The contrast between matte and glossy glass enhances the depth and fluidity of the design, while the transparent material gently captures and diffuses the light. A piece of great elegance and delicacy, it will find its place effortlessly: - on an entryway console, to hold keys or small treasures, - on a bedside table, to keep jewelry or personal items, - or simply as a decorative object to admire and enjoy. Every detail reflects the refined craftsmanship of Daum,
