Description

A rosewood cigar box with a flowing front and a slightly domed lid. The interior comprises five removable solid mahogany drawers. Each drawer is divided into twelve compartments, each with a central slit to allow the cigars to breathe. The hinged lid is adorned with four copper caryatids against a black background. A keyhole escutcheon decorated with intertwined vine leaves adorns the center. The lock is functional and comes with its key. Four wolf's head finials decorate the lid. This Napoleon III period box is in excellent condition.
