Description

A 1980s painting framed with a red enamel on copper, monogrammed JP, depicting an old turreted house in the center of the village of Peissac. This charming enamel, with its soft, translucent tones, allows the thick copper plate to show through, lending a luminous touch of tender pink. A delightful and undeniably charming painting, decorative and playing with light, the stylized composition of this work is highly successful, and a sense of harmony emanates from this painting, which is in good condition and dates from the late 20th century.
