Description

A magnificent 19th century Louis XV style giltwood center table featuring an elegant serpentine Breccia marble top in rich shades of red and white. The sculpted base is finely hand-carved with scrolling acanthus leaves, floral garlands, and rocaille motifs, all richly gilded in gold leaf. The craftsmanship and decorative exuberance reflect the refined opulence of the Rococo revival period so admired in 19th century France. The apron is adorned with a bold central cartouche surrounded by intricate foliage, while the four cabriole legs, carved with flowers and volutes, are united by an ornate stretcher decorated with a sculpted floral bouquet. The table also includes a discreet drawer seamlessly integrated into the design. With its original gilding and beautifully aged patina, this piece combines
