

PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Lot Of Anatomical Engravings From The Medical Treatise By Bourgery And Jacob, Circa 1840, Lot 1

350 EUR

Signature : Bourgery et Jacob

Period : 19th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Paper

Description

Set of 9 anatomical engravings from the "Complete Treatise on the Anatomy of Man" by Dr. Bourgery and the illustrator Jacob. These plates are authentic, dating from the 1840s, and are taken from the monumental work of Dr. Bourgery, who devoted the last 15 years of his life to its creation. Unanimously recognized for the finesse of its drawings, this work was created by Professor Jacob, an anatomical illustrator and draftsman, a student of the famous painter of the French Revolution, David. The work is illustrated with 725 lithographed folio plates in sixteen volumes: eight volumes of text in 2108 pages, and eight volumes of plates with 3750 individual figures. It was published in eighty installments between 1831 and 1854, the last volume being published posthumously. These plates measure

Dealer

A Brocannique

Antique dealer, Asian and world antiquities

Tel : 0297253637

Mobile : 0664293786

19 rue de la motte

Pontivy 56300

approximately 43cm x 30.5cm. Shipping available via Chronopost: France EUR20 Europe
EUR40 Others EUR60 Other lots of anatomical engravings are for sale, no additional shipping costs for the purchase of several lots.