Description

Oil on canvas, post-impressionist view of the port of Carro (Martigues) by Charles Malfroy. Signed and dated 1908. Restored by our workshop.

Framed in the 1940s. Dimensions without frame: Height: 38.5 cm Width: 55.5 cm. Charles Malfroy was a French painter, born Charles Antoine Malfroy in Lyon (3rd arrondissement) on May 27, 1862, and died in Kremlin-Bicêtre on July 21, 1939. Charles Malfroy belongs to the post-impressionist tradition of Jean-Baptiste Olive. Drawn to the light of Mediterranean ports, he excelled in views of the French Riviera and the Bouches-du-Rhône region, particularly the port of Martigues. He also painted a few pictures of Venice. He demonstrated virtuosity in atmospheric effects with a talent for color.
