Exquisite set of six Alsatian wine glasses in cut and double-layered crystal from the Royale de Champagne Bayel factory. Beautifully cut bowls with vibrant colors, six-faceted stems, and star-shaped bases. Height: 19.8 cm, Rim diameter: 7.6 cm, Weight per glass: 304 grams. In superb condition, with luminous colors, each signed "Cristal Bayel" on the base. A little history: The Bayel glassworks was founded in 1666 by a Venetian master glassmaker, Jean-Baptiste Mazzolay, who was granted royal authorization by Louis XVI to supply the court, thus becoming the Royale de Champagne Bayel Crystal Factory. In the 19th century, the factory shifted its focus to lead crystal following its acquisition by the Marquot family in 1854. The 20th century saw the factory experience its
