Description

Venini Murano glass chandelier, 1950s This elegant Venini chandelier from the 1950s, made of fine Murano glass, is a magnificent example of mid-century Venetian production, in which refined design and craftsmanship blend in perfect balance. Dimensions: L 112 cm x H 72 cm The chandelier has an imposing yet harmonious structure, developed over several sinuous arms that open up like a crown. Handcrafted glass arms: each arm is molded in slightly wavy transparent glass, with a twisted finish typical of the Murano tradition, which creates elegant reflections and plays of light. Lamp holder cups: the lights are contained in large, slightly dotted lattimo glass cups with an open, concave shape that diffuse the light in a soft and uniform manner. Central element: a vertical rod in drawn glass supports
