Description

A 1960s Gabonese ebony sideboard with one door and twelve drawers. A rare centerpiece, both for its size and the precious wood used in its construction. The front features a spectacular Gabonese ebony veneer with a graphic grain, assembled in a bookmatched pattern for a continuous "zebra" effect. It has a long top, an airy black lacquered metal base, and twelve drawers with discreet handles for perfect organization, complemented by a side door (storage/shelves). The clean, minimalist design puts the material front and center: a high-end presence with a gallery-like feel. Ideal for a dining room, living room, or executive office, where it structures the space and captures light. Condition: very well maintained, ready to place.
