Description

Pair of Carved Giltwood Wall Sconces - Late 19th Century
Elegant pair of wall sconces crafted in carved wood with a gilt leaf finish, dating from the late 19th century. The decorative elements, featuring flowing scrolls and acanthus leaves, reflect a Neoclassical style with Baroque influences, typical of Italian craftsmanship of the period. The original gilding, enhanced by a pleasing age patina, adds authenticity and timeless elegance. Both sconces were later fitted for electricity, while preserving their original structure and appearance. Perfect for enhancing classic interiors, creating a dramatic entrance, or adding a distinctive decorative light point to more modern spaces.
Period: Late 19th century
Material: Carved giltwood
Condition: Good, with age-appropriate
