Description

Wall Sculpture - Abstract Decoration. Large cast aluminum door sign from the 1960s. Its brutalist design is clearly influenced by the metal sculptures associated with Paul Evans. The contrast between the rigid lines and the fluid forms in the center creates a unique visual dynamic. The entire surface has a rough, textured patina that lends great strength to the piece and its surroundings. A prominent textured handle is integrated on the left side. Removable with two screws, it offers great versatility. Originally designed as a functional door sign for glass, wood, or metal, its strong abstract and sculptural presence also allows for a new use. Without the handle, the sign can serve as a piece of wall art. Dimensions: 78 x 9 cm, H: 195.5 cm. Material: Aluminum
