Description

A ceramic or terracotta vase with a relief decoration depicting a bullfighting scene. The vase displays a highly expressive verdigris patina, giving it an antique, almost sculptural character reminiscent of aged bronze. The surface features a scene modeled in bas-relief: a matador and a bull. This highly textured relief work lends the vase a strong and unique artistic aesthetic. Its original shape, flared at the top and slightly irregular, reinforces its handcrafted appearance. This is an ideal decorative piece for a vintage or bohemian interior, an artist's studio, or a collection of unique ceramics. Dimensions: H34 cm. Condition: very good; intentionally irregular patina. A unique piece, ideal for lovers of art, fine ceramics, or sculptural decoration. Circa 1970
