Description

20th Century Africa. Stunning length of very fine glazed damask cotton from West Africa. Like a stroboscope image, the print is random, employing a tie-dye technique. It features fine, blurred vertical stripes of purple, green, and brown on a saffron-gold background. The overall effect is kinetic and never repetitive, reflecting the hand-dyed techniques. This textile has retained its original glazed finish. No flaws. Excellent color and condition. Dimensions: 300 cm x 129 cm.
