Description

Constant Ambroise Roux (1865-1942) 'Bust of a Gladiator' or 'The Wrath of Achilles'. Chiseled bronze with a nuanced medal patina. Lost-wax cast by Susse Frères, Paris, circa 1925.

Rectangular base forming a terrace in sea-green marble. Signed 'Constant ROUX' in cursive script, foundry mark 'Susse Frères' and 'Lost Wax'. Very good condition. Beautiful nuanced patina. Large model. Height 55cm x Width 48cm x Depth 20cm. Constant Roux (1865-1942) began and brilliantly concluded his career with a single work: The Wrath of Achilles. Indeed, she opened the doors of the Villa Medici to him after his winning the Grand Prix de Rome in 1894 and awarded him a medal of honor at the Salon of the Société des Artistes Français in 1930.
