Description

This pair of glass table lamps were made by the Parisian maker Daum in the 1960s, they are of superb quality heavy glass, with a decorative floral design. Signed with the maker's mark. The height of 47cm is to the top of the fitting. We've had the lamps rewired by our electrician for the UK. They can be adapted for any destination, please ask for more information. We've used a stylish rope twisted flex. Daum has been crafting glassware since 1878 and have maintained a strong reputation throughout their history for their creativity and timeless pieces. Pictured with bespoke shades - sold separately - please ask for more information.
