Paule and Max Ingrand - A couple of major 20th-century decorative artists. Max Ingrand (1908-1969) was one of the greatest French stained-glass artists and decorators of the 20th century. Trained at the École des Beaux-Arts in Paris, he created numerous stained-glass windows for religious and civic buildings, both in France and abroad, and collaborated with the leading architects of his time. Alongside him, Paule Ingrand (1910-1997), an artist trained in drawing and painting, played a vital role in the couple's creative process.

Together, they signed their creations "PM Ingrand," an abbreviation of their first names.

Their style, a blend of Art Deco and Modernism, is distinguished by its decorative elegance and symbolic iconography: horsemen, angels, musicians, and allegories. After Max's death, Paule continued her artistic work alone. Her personal works--drawings, gouaches, and decorative projects--reveal a more intimate and spiritual expression, where gesture becomes meditation. In them, she explores light, color, and form as vehicles for emotion and transcendence.
