Description

Description This bronze sculpture features an elegant abstract composition defined by elongated forms, interlocking curves, and a central open void that captures and directs light through the piece. Its dark patinated surface is enriched with subtle textural markings that contrast effectively with the warm interior bronze tones visible within the cavity. The upward movement and balanced asymmetry evoke a modernist approach rooted in mid-century biomorphic design. The work is possibly signed "MCARO 006," with the signature possibly reading MCARO, though the precise attribution remains uncertain. The piece is mounted on a polished marble base that enhances its sculptural presence while grounding the composition. This refined cast offers a strong visual statement through its interplay of mass,
