Description

A Restoration period portico clock in ebonized wood with gilt bronze mounts. The beautiful pendulum is decorated with two swans, and in the center, a silver disc rests on a star. The silvered bronze dial features Roman numerals and a minute track. The hands are blued steel. The Parisian movement strikes the hours and half-hours on a bell with a hood. Complete with its pendulum and key. It is wound weekly. The mechanism has been serviced and is in perfect working order. The case is made of varnished ebonized wood.
