Description

A striking example of Belgian Brutalist design from the 1970s, this sculptural cabinet combines bold geometry with refined craftsmanship. Constructed from wood and accented with aluminum, its façade features a rhythmic grid of raised square panels, each with a pyramid-like indentation that adds depth and texture. The minimalist silhouette and recessed base enhance its architectural presence, making it a standout piece in any interior.

This cabinet embodies the raw elegance of Brutalism while retaining the warmth of Mid-Century modernism. Ideal for collectors and design enthusiasts seeking a statement storage solution with historical character.
