Description

A remarkable American quilt, Log Cabin, circa 1860, originating from a New England state, Pennsylvania or Connecticut. The fine quality of its fabrics, even though well-worn, allows it to be dated to the 1860s-80s, perhaps even earlier. The original border and the small red and blue ties make it a particularly interesting piece. It is worn and patinated; it has clearly seen good use, yet it has retained all its charm. A very beautiful piece to display as a tapestry. 1.74m x 2.22mThank you to Mr. Charles Edouard de Broin for his valuable information.
